

Archives Report

The book collection has been reshelfed on the now adjustable shelves. Although put back in as closely as possible to the way they were taken out, there will have to be revisions to the master list.

Dick has been sorting and labeling the maps so they will be ready to file once we have archival sleeves and a map cabinet to put them in.

Rita Flack (who will be away all July) and Marilyn Lanctot have finished archiving the school attendance records.

We have been inundated with new archival material which needs to be sorted, inventoried and shelved:

The Will Rivinus books and notes.

Four boxes, as yet not gone through, containing articles, photographs, letters, etc. from the Alston Waring family.

A box of papers, budgets, letters, etc. from Robert "Pop" Shaw who was not only a founder of Solebury School, but also secretary of the Solebury Township school board at the time of consolidation and selling off the one-room school houses.

Robert McEwan just finished editing and shortening the Bucks County Historical Society's Collections and Archival Policy. We should consider adopting this for the Solebury Township Historical Society.
