

Linda Kenyon

For the Annual Meeting, Marnie has volunteered to get the ham, Charlotte will help set up, Gail Keim can do a "sit down" job, and Penny will help as well – perhaps thinking up some things to mix people up. I will provide the tablecloths, and we'll use gourds, Osage oranges, etc. for decorations. After I get a budget, I'll ask Peter Gatto if he can find some good wine, and I'm sure that someone knows where the fake candles are. If Robert is still interested in presenting ten or so minutes worth of oral history, that would be great. There is the Carversville film, which is sort of fun.

For the Brunch: We had a meeting, and I think things are going according to schedule. Hollyhedge is confirmed, the price is $55, and Beth has agreed to take reservations. Linda will arrange for table centerpieces, Bob Egan will be there, Stephanie and donneta will ask Addison Wolf to sponsor, Elaine will ask Bountiful Acres to sponsor, we can continue to ask for raffle donations. There will be no painting. Honored citizen is to be decided. Elaine showed some nice graphics – old fashioned winter scenes, which is great. The Post Office will accept a three-fold, not a two-fold of an eight and a half by eleven sheet. Patricia Whitman will ask Dick Carlson about auction item. Linda will be happy to offer a dinner. Elaine will ask about Christmas tree donation. Linda and Elaine will check with Perl Mintzer, and see if she wants us to raid her basement. Donneta will ask Dot Bunn about offering a painting lesson.
