

Development Report Dec. 2 2015
Melody Hunt

We have the three paintings worked up and the dates firmed up for the 2016 Winter Series of the Impression-Sips. That's the royal we.

I also have shared the works, descriptions, dates and the "make 'em wanna be there happy blurb" with Beth who if it's not on the website right will be putting it there soon.

Today, I reached out to a couple of prospective sponsors, one being my husband in a very funny email that I copied to Amy Parenti of Freeman's in Phila. because I thought she'd get the humor and so maybe will donate again this year.

I have a very interesting antidote featuring the Redfield-esque Brook in Carversville and Howard Barsky whose property is featured in that painting that I think would make a great story for the Herald. I'm not going to try and write it now, but its about how a painting can inspire curiosity in historic happenings and places. Howard did say he would like to sponsor. I sent him the info today.

I also sent Amy Manoff the website blurb, offering her 2 comps as a thank you for her help in last year's Sips, "The Dinner" and hopefully this years Sips as well.

Attached along with this doc is the Website Sips, with all paintings shown and the sponsorship form which could we please share?

I'm sure there's more, oh yeah, I will need help prepping the canvases with the sketches. And Sandy Vallely will be master of ceremonies for the Sips again this time around.
